BEST BET OF DAY

Race #7

(2) NICE ACE

This horse has been working lights out since returning here to PID. In his last outing at GP, he was jostled around, and with going only 5F, he didn't stand much of a chance. He returns to his own sandbox today, where he has never been worse than second. He will be the Fav for sure, but he is a single in your Pick 3's, 4's and other exotics. You get Morales, and Girten, who by the way is 29% second off the layoff. All systems go!

LONGSHOT PLAY

Race # 3

(7) WILLING

This regally bred filly was a $135k yearling. Her first out may look lackluster, but that was in the slop on the dirt at Penn National. That surface certainly did not favor this pedigree. She should absolutely relish this surface today, and Conditioner Phil Schoenthal wouldn't ship here from Fair Hill if he didn't believe that he was live. I am going to use the first time Synthetic angle along with that bullet work at Fair Hill. 10-1 Morning Line Hoping for that Price
