BEST BET OF THE DAY

Race #7

(5) DRIFTWOOD

He exits the Stake at MNR last out, in which it was scratched off of the Turf. He just wasn't a fan of that surface on that day. He is 9/12 ITM here at PID and is coming out of the barn of who is perhaps the best and most versatile trainer on the backside. This horse has a solid resume, running against Graded stakes horses, and running well against them. Spieth gets the mount today, and looks to upset the likely favorite, Surf and Turf in here.

SPOT PLAY OF THE DAY

Race #5

(3) Shammah

He ran a massive race last time out on debut, against a nice horse who is now stakes placed, (Smoke Lightning). He didn't actually break all that well in that first event, which of course didn't help his cause. He's looking great today in this spot with the Meet's Leading Rider in Morales, and he is coming out of a barn turning 67% ITM. It looks as if he really only needs to hold off Schiffhauer Strong, and if he can do that he should be rolling to the Winner's Circle.
