BEST BET OF THE DAY

Race #5

(4) SUMMER PALACE

He may have thrown a clunker last race, but the horse is a legit Charger for Trainer Leland Hayes. He has put up some very good numbers prior to that last race, and it does look as if that poor performance on August 30th was nothing more than a fluke. His speed figures from recent times are superior and he has some very strong back class also, running against horses like Goodie Goomer, Extrasexybigdaddee, and Flight to Paradise. If Leland has him right, he wins in this spot.

SPOT PLAY of the PLAY

Race #6

(3) Zoombie

Conditioner Ryan Walsh is going to drop this horse into the claiming ranks for only the second time in his life. He exits some solid attempts at the AOC $40k level, including a stakes placing in the Tom Ridge, and now looks for the class relief in this N3L $25k claimer. He should find some shelter here in this spot against these foes this afternoon. There is plenty of speed in this race for him to follow, as his style is to come from off the pace. Bug Girl Beckman is getting 7 lbs. today to help.
