Best Bet of the Day

Race #5

(5) A Real Hero

Conditioner Tim Hamm is known for putting horses where they belong, and he is doing even more than that in this instance. A Real Hero, dominated that last race for a much higher claiming tag than today's price, and on paper this horse looks like the victor against this group. She's never been off the board here at PID, and she does get the Meet's leading rider in Pablo Morales. With superior speed figures and the drop in class, she is the pick in this event.

Spot Play of Day

Race #2

(1) Commodore Barry

He enters right back into the State Bred 1X, after a very good second in his last attempt. The previous race he won in open company, against some solid types, he's back in his own sandbox today duking it with lesser individuals. His speed figures are superior to the others in this group, and he draws the attention of Rider Gaddiel Martinez, who has been riding very well as of late, and it looks as if Tommy Cooper may be wearing some of his Sunday Best for a Picture today.
