BEST BET OF DAY

Race #6

(7) CHOCOLATE PHILLING

Dropping way down into the $6,250 level, this horse has been very competitive at much higher levels. Regular Rider Rockin' Ronnie Allen is back aboard for Conditioner Mark Maddox. He cuts the distance, back to 6 ½ Furlongs, and that shouldn't be any issue, as he won on August 9th going 6 Furlongs. This horse is very versatile and can go short or long. 8/1 M/L, bit I think that price will be much shorter.

SPOT PLAY OF THE DAY

Race # 4

(1) Merino Wool

Hard to fault this hard knocking mare, as she has now won 3 in a row over this strip. Her style of closing off of the pace should be a perfect scenario for her in this spot, as there is a lot of speed in this event. Conditioner Eddie Rojas liked this mare so much that he claimed her back off of Iron Horse Stables. This very prolific mare has gone on to make $54k this year at PID, running for lower level claiming tags. She's blue collar, but so useful!
