Best Bet of the Day

Race #2

#1 Aquitania Arrival

Conditioner Juan Arriagada looks to continue his dominance here at PID, and his program is without question paying dividends. He's an aggressive train/owner, and he has no problem dropping a charger of his down to lower levels to get the win, and he doesn't fret about losing the horse via the claim box. Fourth last time out against better, including Outhustle, Thalberg and Return Winner Bartulia, this horse drops down today into the $8,500 level, out of the Starter. Even though several of these foes have been at a higher level, he looks to be the best of this group. In addition you get Gallardo as Pilot today.

#9 Bedtime Story

A Winner two back on the turf at MTH, this mare is going to drop in to the basement here at PID, against a softer group. Not only is the previous statement true, but the kicker with this horse is that she is 6 for 6 on the synthetic. She was solid at GP on their Tapeta, so the fact that she returns to Tapeta is an added plus. She has a lot of back class and looks as if she will be the object of a hostile takeover here today via the claim box.
