Best Bet of the Day

Race #3

#3 Kitten's War

Trainer Kevin Rice attempted a big raised last time out, and this horse didn't really run all that bad, she was just a little over her head in that event. Rice gets aggressive here, and drops the horse to the basement, where he should tower over this field. A four time Winner here at PID, and with a very versatile racing style, she looks to be a Woman among girls in this spot. Regular Rider Izzy Rodriguez is back aboard, this daughter of Kittens Joy, who by the way is the most prolific winning Sire in the history of PID.

Spot Play of Day

Race # 1

#3 Diver

Coming off of a huge day yesterday, Winning the HBPA Stake and two other races, Trainer Brandon Kulp looks to add to his victory count today with Diver. Claimed for $15k two back, Kulp raised the horse and won the MSW with him. He drops way down to the $12.5k level, and looks great in this spot. The abundance of speed in here should play right into his hand, as he will be stalking the pace today. You get the guy with the hot hand right now, in Pablo Morales, a dou with kulp that is currently ripping it up!
