Best Bet of the Day

Race #1

#4 Float Away

A victim of a pace scenario last time out, there was just no way that she was catching Valiant Victoria, who got loose on the front end, set torrid fractions and just kept going. Although there is some speed in this event, it is not like last time, which is an added plus to this horse. He stalking type pace should be effective, as it looks as if She's Bearish and Queen Anna T will go to the front and soften each other up. This mare is 20/28 ITM here at PID and couple that with her back class makes her look like a winner in the first race today

Spot Play of Day

Race #3

#4 Boujie Betz

A tough Filly, Boujie Betz always has an uncanny ability to find her way into the mix, hitting the board 8 of 12 times. She ran a big race last time out, just missing by a length. She's right back in for the same tag as last time out, and looks to move to the next level. This Stakes Placed Filly has solid back class and the aforementioned Potts Trainee hails from a mare that has produced some very good progeny, all of which have been extremely good at this racetrack.
