Best Bet of the Day

Race #7

7 Modarosa

A lot to like with this mare, her performance record, her pedigree and her connections. Not to mention her affinity for the Tapeta here at PID. One start, and one win so far over the PID Strip. She exits out of a tough Stake at IND, only beaten 2 ¼ lengths, she now enters back in against her own kind and gets the opportunity to play in her own sandbox. She was a Winner in the Lyphard Stakes at PEN over the weeds, and with the defection of Nature's Candy, this task looks a lot easier.

Spot Play of the Day

Race #1

1 Dominant Stranger

She could possibly be in the best form of her life at the moment. She's ten years young and just in the past two years, she has come on and evolved into a very useful racehorse. A completely versatile type, this Mare has been able to dictate the pace or come from way out of it. Severino has jumped ship, and now the piloting duties rest in the hands of HVG. A very capable Jock, he knows this mare well. She has thrown up superior speed figs as of late, and it looks as if she is going to have to run down probable frontrunner Shaunnasaprilfool.
