Best Bet of the Day

Race #3

2 Violenta

An authoritative win last time out in the MSW , and Leading Trainer Randy Russell decides to forego the 1X and drop Violenta straight into the N2L For $30k. This is an aggressive move, but an intelligent one, as she looks the best if you take your time and sift through all of the information. She has put up superior numbers, compared to her rivals in this event, and her tactical speed is a big advantage. She looks to be an up and coming horse here at PID.

Spot Play of the Day

Race #8

12 Tiger Eye Pearl

Conditioner Juan Arriagada is no stranger to getting aggressive with his horses, and today is certainly no exception. He takes "Tiger Eye Pearl" and drops her to near the basement level here in this $6,250 event. She's been decent here at PID crushing her maiden victory by 10 lengths. She came right back and ran a big second in the N2L for $25k. Her last race may look like a clunker, but she faced some very good horses, like Jenadriyah and Two Scoops. She certainly won't face that here today.
